

COMING OF FALL IS REFLECTED IN SHOP WINDOWS

Advance Styles Show Pleasing Variety; Dresses of Satin and Figured Silks Mirror the Mode of the Moment.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL

New York, Aug. 26.—More than half the window displays already gone and interests turning toward fall and heavier dresses and hats. In both of these there is much to attract the attention of those on the lookout for new ideas in dress.

A visit to the best shops shows many distinct styles on display. What is really most striking is the number of one-piece frocks and the large variety of them. Some are of satin and light woolens, others are of satin or silk, according to the requirements of the woman who may have her wardrobe packed with a dozen or more occasions. In dark dresses, the navy blue serge is to be counted on again. Women never seem to tire of it, for it has so many qualities which make it so good to give up, and no satisfactory substitute has ever been found for it. White serges there are also and they are truly fascinating.

Sleeves are long and some colors are high, though the becoming sailor collar is still retained in many models. The sailor collar, full and falling, being arranged in gathers, applies to the gathered one-piece.

There have been some also of the accordion pleated skirt coming in again.

A number of the new frocks are in that moss rich and wonderful color royal purple. The material is velvet or satin with gold combined. Another new color for hats is ruby red. Topping a black or navy blue case come one of these spots of color giving a most striking and smart effect.

But let us come back to the styles that are worn now at present.

If we turn to popularity, the dress of the moment is of satin or figured silk, gathers and pleats, long tunics and interesting collars are the features that attract most attention in the present models. Gathered skirts are not new, it is true, but when all the gathering is placed at the sides below the hip line and finished with a heading beneath which are pockets, we have to admit that this is a novel way of handling gathers. This treatment is shown here in an illustration. The dress referred to is the white, which is dressed in harmony with the skirt. The lines on either side of the white vest would continue down to meet those on the skirt were it not for the soft girdle that comes behind them.

Designers are making a strong point of the long tunic again, and in many models they bring in several points, as in the dress illustrated here. Full and pleated at the waist, the tunic is tucked in at the back, and those that are not quite so long manage to get the desired length by the addition of a circular ruffle or gathered trim. Still another favorite type of collar is the one that has very long, low-cut and finished with two points in front—quite the reverse of the other style. The collars are bound or scalloped, or finished with pointed edging. Certainly, the collars this season are as varied and graceful as possible. They are quite irresistible in Georgette crepe, chiffon or organdy.

The shapes are showing some very striking silk waists, very colorful and most attractive. These are to wear with tailored skirts for they are distinctly of the tailored type. The waist is worn with neck or belt stripes, sometimes contrasting with narrow ones. But it is not in the color combinations that the attraction of these new waists lies. Light backgrounds of pink, cream and pale blue will have strong vivid stripes brought out on them. White silk collar and cuffs and large pearl buttons finish these waists.

Saved Her Daughter's Life.
A chambermaid, Lydia Chabot, and her daughter, Helen, saved their life when she had a heart attack at the age of twelve years. Lydia vomited every few minutes, and we were unable to keep our vomiting down long enough to benefit her until we gave her this remedy. The doctor being at our house looked him what he thought about our using it and he said as he was unable to do the medical any good, I had better use it. The second dose she kept down and for a short time the towels were folded over the bed and improved rapidly after that, writes Mrs. Jennie Major, Laramie, Colorado.

Deming Society Notes

Among the handsome entertainments of the past week was the dinner given by Dr. M. J. Moran at the Harvey House complimentary to the visiting delegates of the Delaware national guard. First Lieut. C. H. Jeffries and Lieut. P. A. Chesser. The guests were, in addition to the honoraries, Lieutenants Brady and Dr. J. A. Dunn with Mrs. M. J. Moran and the Misses Esther Belcher, Katherine Wamel, Theresa Clark, Mary Moran, Mary Lou Swope. After the dinner the party motored to a late dinner and dancing until 1 a.m.

The dining room was among the most elegant and elaborate affairs given in Deming. The dining room was among the most elegant and elaborate affairs given in Deming.

Mrs. Morris Rutherford, accompanied by her brother, Mr. Wells Rutherford, arrived in Deming Monday afternoon and were entertained by Mrs. Nettie M. Rutherford.

Wednesday evening she will be mother, Mrs. Nettie M. Rutherford, in Long Beach, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hall entertained a large number of friends at an elaborate supper, followed by a dance at the "Capitol" Wednesday night.

It was a very elaborate and beautiful function of the very gay young Deming in experiencing at present.

The table was adorned with white and handsome candlesticks at either end and a central piece of roses and ferns.

The guests included the wife of the social world, Mrs. M. J. Moran and Mrs. William Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. Alford Ford, Mrs. Alice Stecker and the Misses Katherine Shepherd, Mary Malone, Katherine Wamel, Theresa Clark, Mary Lou Swope, Helen Swope, Esther Belcher, Mrs. Frank Thurmond and Messrs. Jarvis Williams, Bugert Clark, Amos W. Pollard, Walter Clark, Leon Wm. Beck Jr., of Delaware, and Lieutenant Thornton of Delaware. Dr. Earl M. Brady and Dr. Lloyd Maples.

Mr. "Buz" Peeler entertained Friday night at his bachelor apartment at a charming dinner party. The decorations were most beautiful, including silver candlesticks holding candles shaded in rose and a soft, beautiful glow over the rich appointments of cut glass and silver. Mr. Peeler's guests included Miss Helen Swope, Miss Mary Malone, Miss Mary Lou Swope, with Lieutenant James of the First regiment of Arkansas, and Mr. Jarvis Williams. Mr. and Mrs. William Rutherford, prominent members of the smart set, charmed the party after the dinner the host and his guests motored to the armory for the military honors given by the officers of the First Arkansas Infantry.

The Golden Gospel Club met Tuesday with Mrs. W. Pollard, E. Hart and enjoyed a very delicious dinner.

The table was full of delicious and abundant and there was some delightful music.

During the afternoon Mrs. Hart assisted in the Masses. Lucile and Lieutenant James of the First regiment of Arkansas, and Mr. Jarvis Williams.
